How to use Zelle® to safely pay others

Do you know and trust the person you're sending money to?
Payments can't be canceled if the other person is already enrolled with Zelle®.

Does anything seem suspicious about the payment you're making?
Is the recipient expressing extreme urgency or claiming to be from your bank? Are you paying in advance for event tickets or a puppy you found online? In any of these scenarios, it's best to choose a different payment option.

Are you treating Zelle® like cash?
Money moves fast with Zelle®. Make sure you enter your recipient's U.S. mobile number or email address correctly.

Zelle and the Zelle related marks are wholly owned by Early Warning Services, LLC and are used herein under license.

BEWARE OF COMMON SCAMS

At USECU, the security and privacy of your personal information and data is extremely important to us. While we work diligently to protect your information, scammers are hard at work trying to access personal information to steal your identity or gain access to your accounts. Please know that USECU employees will NEVER call you to verify or ask for Home Banking login information, security codes, PINs or one-time passcodes.

For more information on common scams and, most importantly, how to avoid them, please visit our website, <https://www.myusecu.org/about/usecu/security>
